

Mary F. Mansell - Camden

I love to read and I love going to the Camden Library. I have previously lived in large cities but I grew up in Camden, MS. When I grew up here we had no library, and I am especially thankful for this gift to the citizens. This library makes me feel connected to the outside world even though I live in the country. It holds an outstanding collections of books and the librarian has the ability to order many books. The librarian is competent, helpful, and kind and knows how to brighten everyone's day. The clean, neat library is in a beautiful setting that brings back wonderful childhood memories.
